Oscar and Shoshana Trachtenberg Faculty Prizes

These prizes, the top faculty awards granted by George Washington University, are presented to tenured members of the faculty to recognize accomplishments in scholarship, teaching, and university service.

2020

UNIVERSITY SERVICE

Forrest Maltzman Professor of Political Science

Professor Forrest Maltzman has served in multiple roles since joining the George Washington University in 1993, including as Provost, as chair of the Department of Political Science, and in several teaching roles. He has worked with GW faculty, staff, and students to foster GW's academic mission and promote academic excellence. His research and teaching focus on the institutions of American government, and he has contributed to American Political Review, American Journal of Political Science, and has co-authored with Jim Spriggs and Paul Wahlbeck Crafting Law on the Supreme Court: The Collegial Game, and with Sarah Binder Advice and Dissent: The Struggle to Shape the Federal Judiciary. He earned his Ph.D. at the University of Minnesota.

SCHOLARSHIP

Sarah Binder Professor of Political Science

Professor Binder joined the Department of Political Science at the George Washington University in 1999. During her 22 years at GW, she has held fellowships at The Brookings Institution and has been recognized with numerous awards and honors for her scholarship, research, and teaching. Professor Binder has taught courses in legislative politics and American politics. Her most recent co-authored publication is The Myth of Independence: How Congress Governs the Federal Reserve. She has a B.A. from Yale University and a Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania.

TEACHING

Jason Zara Professor of Biomedical Engineering

Professor Jason Zara joined the George Washington University in 2009, holding multiple teaching roles before being named an associate dean of undergraduate studies. For 18 years, Professor Zara has worked on the development of novel imaging instrumentation and software to approach the detection and evaluation of epithelial cancers, epilepsy, and other human diseases. In 2006, he received the Wallace H. Coulter Foundation Early Career Translational Research Award for his work in microfabricated OCT scanners. He holds seven U.S. patents and previously founded two start-up companies, including a GW spin-off, Lumacoustic Systems, LLC. He earned a B.S. at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign and a Ph.D. from Duke University.

TRACHTENBERG TEACHING PRIZE FINALISTS 2020

Michael Moore Professor of Economics and International Affairs

Kimberly Morgan Professor of Political Science and International Affairs

Christopher Rollston Professor of Northwest Semitic Languages and Literatures

Sarah Shomstein Thelma Hunt Professor of Psychology and Health Sciences

2021

UNIVERSITY SERVICE

Carol Sigelman Professor of Psychological and Brain Sciences

Professor Carol Sigelman has been a George Washington University faculty member since 1992 and has served the university in several other capacities, including as associate vice president for research and graduate studies, associate vice president for academic affairs and graduate studies, and as chair of the Department of Psychology. She is a developmental psychologist who authored a life-span human development textbook, currently in its 10th edition. She studies physical and mental health among children and adolescents, children's beliefs and attitudes regarding HIV/AIDS and other diseases, and communication in military families during deployments. She earned a Ph.D. from George Peabody College.

SCHOLARSHIP

Lisa Bowleg Professor of Psychological and Brain Sciences

Professor Lisa Bowleg has served in the Department of Psychology and Brain Sciences since 2013, and is the founding director of the Intersectionality Training Institute. Professor Bowleg's research and teaching has focused on intersectionality in social and behavioral science. She is an editorial board member of Archives of Sexual Behavior; Culture, Health and Sexuality; LGBT Health; Journal of Sex Research; and Sexuality Research and Social Policy. She is the recipient of the 2014 Psychology and AIDS Distinguished Leadership Award from the American Psychological Association. In January 2018, she assumed directorship of the Social and Behavioral Sciences Core of the DC Center for AIDS Research. Professor Bowleg earned a master's degree in Public Policy and Applied Social Psychology and a Ph.D. in Applied Social Psychology, both from GW.

TEACHING

Shira Robinson Associate Professor of History and International Affairs

Professor Shira Robinson joined the George Washington University in 2007 after two years of teaching at the University of Iowa and one year as Visiting Fellow at the Davis Center for Historical Studies at Princeton University. She has worked and lectured on the social and cultural history of the Modern Middle East, with an emphasis on colonialism, citizenship, nationalism, and cultures of militarism after World War I. She joined GW in 2007. Her recent publications include Citizen Strangers: Palestinians and the Birth of Israel's Liberal Settler State. She received her B.A. in Middle Eastern and North African Studies from the University of Michigan and her M.A. and Ph.D. in History from Stanford University.

TRACHTENBERG TEACHING PRIZE FINALISTS 2021

There were no finalists for 2021.

2022

UNIVERSITY SERVICE

Marie Price Professor of Geography and International Affairs

Professor Marie Price has been a faculty member at the George Washington University since 1990 and currently serves as the Department of Geography Director of Graduate Studies. A Latin American and migration specialist, her studies have explored human migration's impact on development and social change. She is president of the American Geographical Society and a non-resident fellow of the Migration Policy Institute. Locally, she serves on the board of the Dream Project, a not-for-profit registered in Virginia that supports undocumented students to access and succeed in college through scholarships, mentoring, and advocacy. Her current research is on the spatial dynamics of immigrant inclusion and exclusion as well as innovations in geographic education. Professor Price is co-author of several leading textbooks in world geography: Diversity Amid Globalization: World Regions, Environment and Development, 7th edition and Globalization and Diversity: Geography of a Changing World, 5th edition. She earned her Ph.D. at Syracuse University.

SCHOLARSHIP

Alexa Alice Joubin Professor of English, Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Theatre, International Affairs, and East Asian Languages and Literatures

Professor Alexa Alice Joubin teaches in the English department in the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences at the George Washington University, is affiliated faculty in Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, is affiliated with the Sigur Center for Asian Studies, and co-founded the GW Digital Humanities Institute. She teaches and writes about cultural globalization, arts, and humanities in the context of international affairs. Her latest book, Shakespeare and the Ethics of Appropriation, co-edited with Elizabeth Rivlin, explores the question of ethics in global appropriation of Shakespeare and local cultures. Her teaching and publications are unified by a commitment to understanding the mobility of early modern and postmodern cultures in their literary, performative, and digital forms of expression. Her research has been funded by the Fulbright, National Endowment for the Humanities, American Council of Learned Societies, Chiang Ching-kuo Foundation, International Shakespeare Association, Folger Institute, and other agencies. Professor Joubin earned a Ph.D. from Stanford University.

TEACHING

Maria Frawley Professor of English

Professor Maria Frawley is department chair and professor in the Department of English and director of the Honors Program in the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences at the George Washington University. Professor Frawley joined GW in 2000 and has shared her interest in nineteenth-century British literature, social history, and print culture with her students at GW. Her work on the culture of invalidism has led to an interest in "transient illnesses" of Victorian Britain and to histories, narratives, and representations of institutional care (e.g., workhouses, asylums) in the period. She has an abiding interest in Victorian women social reformers, especially Harriet Martineau and Florence Nightingale. Her current book project originated in a series of classroom assignments on Jane Austen's distinctive vocabulary; it is tentatively titled Keywords of Jane Austen's Fiction. Professor Frawley earned a Ph.D. from the University of Delaware.

Music Selections

Blue Haven is GW professor Peter Fraize's (2022) album of original music with re-workings of two tunes from the classic repertoire. It captures all the excitement, energy and vibe of the band's live performances that UK fans have known about since 2016 and encompasses a range of the classic sounds associated with the organ genre, revitalized for the contemporary scene. Saxophonist Fraize is joined on this recording by Terry Seabrook (organ), along with Jack Kendon (trumpet), and Milo Fell (drums).

Thank You

We deeply appreciate the hard work of all the nominators and supporters who make extraordinary efforts to recognize faculty dedication. More than 30 departments contributed nomination dossiers, and through their efforts, we are building upon the culture of teaching, research, and service excellence at GW.
